COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

ERICA M. SAVIUK

The student commencement speaker representing the College of Arts & Sciences is Erica Saviuk of Port Orange, Fla., who is earning a Bachelor of Arts in Communication Studies, with a minor in Journalism. Saviuk's outstanding senior research was titled, "Lending Support on Group Loop: A Qualitative Analysis of Message Board Posts and Responses on a Web Site for Teens with Cancer." She worked in Stetson's Residential Life Department for three years, spending the past two years as Head Resident for Gordis Hall. Her program, "Safe Sex and the City," won "Best Educational Hall Program of the Year" in 2009. She plans to pursue a career in Residential Life, hopefully at a college or university in the northeastern United States. She also served as secretary of the Student Government Association in 2007-08 and worked as chief copy editor of The Reporter, Stetson's student newspaper, in 2006-07. She was a recipient of the Stetson Presidential Scholarship all four years at Stetson.

ASHLEY N. PERRYMAN

Business Management and Family Business double-major Ashley Perryman, who is also earning a minor in Marketing, is the student commencement speaker representing the School of Business Administration. A DeLand, Fla., resident, Perryman is a member of Alpha Xi Delta (positions served include Philanthropy Week chair, vice president public relations and alumni relations chair), Omicron Delta Kappa, and the Order of Omega (vice president recruitment, vice president programming and coordinator of Greek Week). Last fall, she was part of the Greenfeather committee. She served on the Management Program Quality Enhancement Committee. She is an active participant with Relay for Life, serving as publicity chair, team captain for the Order of Omega Team and closing ceremony coordinator in 2010. She was selected for the 2010 Homecoming Court and was named Pi Beta Phi's "Unsung Hero" this year for her dedication to Greek life and the advancement of her chapter. Perryman is also this year's Female Philanthropist of the Year, which is awarded to a Greek woman who has dedicated herself to philanthropic causes through her sorority and community. Perryman was named to the Dean's List for four semesters at Stetson and earned the Promise, Hatter Award and Citizenship Award scholarships. Off campus, she has done extensive volunteer work through New Horizon Service Dogs and Faith at Work, where she coordinated two food drives. Upon graduation, she plans to attend graduate school to earn an M.B.A. and then a Ph.D. in Business Management.

A talented pianist and student of Music Professor Dr. Michael Rickman, Pace is graduating with a Bachelor of Music in Piano Performance. He is on the Student Advisory Committee for the School of Music, serving as Keyboard Representative from 2007 to 2010. He sings baritone in the Concert Choir, and last spring, he was inducted into the music national honor society Pi Kappa Lambda. He often accompanies his classmates in lessons and performances. Last summer, Pace was apprentice pianist for the V.O.I.C. Experience program, under the leadership of Artistic Director Sherrill Milnes. In addition to recitals and performances at Stetson, he participated in the Schlern International Music Festival, Voels am Schlern, Italy, in the summer of 2008. He is the recipient of the Florida Bright Futures Scholarship, the Stetson Talent Scholarship, and was first-prize winner in the 2008 Wednesday Music Club of Central Florida Scholarship Competition. Upon graduation, Pace will be attending graduate school in Collaborative Piano and Music Theory at The Florida State University.

STETSON UNIVERSITY

Stetson University and the city of DeLand have grown hand in hand over the years. Founded in 1883 by New York businessman Henry A. DeLand, the university was named for John B. Stetson, the hat manufacturer and philanthropist who gave generously to the school. The first five buildings on campus were built between 1884 and 1908. Florida's first College of Law was founded at Stetson in 1900. In 1954, it relocated to a 12-acre campus in Gulfport/St. Petersburg on the west side of the state.

In 1958, the DeLand campus had grown from 33 to 80 acres, and campus buildings more than doubled. After World War II, enrollment soared and, in 1962, Stetson became the first private college in Florida to integrate its student body. The duPont-Ball Library was added in 1964 and the Edmunds Center in 1974. The university then acquired additional property and began renovations of its older buildings.

As the university approached the 21st century, a new addition was added to the duPont-Ball Library. New facilities included Hollis Center and Rinker Field House, Wilson Athletic Center, the Mandy Stoll Tennis Center, Patricia Wilson Field softball complex and six new student residence halls. In partnership with the city of DeLand, Melching Field at Conrad Park was built as the new home of Hatter baseball. In 2003, the Lynn Business Center became the first certified "green" building in Florida. A new Science Center, the Mary B. McMahan Hall for music, the Homer and Dolly Hand Art Center and the Rinker Environmental Learning Center are recent additions to campus, which now spans 175 acres.

State-of-the-art classrooms, library facilities and courtrooms have been added at the College of Law, including the Eleazer Courtroom, a national model for providing courtroom access to the elderly or disabled. The Center at Celebration, near Orlando, opened in 2001, and the Tampa Law Center opened in 2004 in a building that also houses the Tampa branch of Florida's 2nd District Court of Appeal.

The university has been independent since it was founded, but had a historical relationship with the Baptist denomination. That relationship was dissolved in the early 1990s, but the university affirms the importance of spiritual life and the pursuit of truth.

Education is provided in a creative community at the intersection where learning and values meet – encouraging the qualities of mind and heart that prepare students to reach their full potential as informed citizens and stewards of their communities and the world. Stetson's collaborative teaching and learning approaches stimulate critical thinking, imaginative inquiry, creative expression and lively intellectual debate, and provide the foundation for rewarding careers and advanced study in selective graduate and professional programs around the country and the world.

By bringing together excellence in education, a commitment to core values and a dedication to stewardship, the university encourages its members to demonstrate personal integrity; develop an appreciation for the spiritual dimension of life; embrace leadership in an increasingly complex, interdependent, and technological world; and commit to active forms of social responsibility.

With 243 faculty serving 3,594 students, Stetson truly is now one university from coast to coast in Florida. From the College of Arts & Sciences, the School of Business Administration and the School of Music in DeLand to the Stetson University Center at Celebration, the Tampa Law Center and the College of Law in Gulfport, Stetson is poised to address the challenges of private higher education in Florida, the nation and the world.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The President's Medallion, worn at all official academic occasions, was first used by Stetson's sixth president, John E. Johns. The medallion, cast in silver, is the university seal embraced by a wreath of laurel.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The traditional pageantry of an academic procession is one of the impressive spectacles of our time. The array of handsome gowns and vividly colored hoods worn by the faculty and administration are the symbols of scholarly attainment.

THE UNIVERSITY SEAL

The circular seal of Stetson University was first adopted between 1889 and 1891, around the time the name of the institution changed from DeLand College to John B. Stetson University. It first appeared on a university catalog in 1891. The drawing was by an artist-in-residence and approved by President Forbes, Henry DeLand and John B. Stetson, as well as by the Board of Trustees. The Latin motto, "Pro Deo et Veritate," is translated "For God and Truth." The Lamp, signifying the Light of Truth, rests on the Book of Wisdom.

MACE

Maces were originally war instruments, but from the 13th century have been carried by the sergeant-at-arms of educational entities. The mace symbolizes the dignity and authority of the president and the Board of Trustees.

The Stetson mace, designed by Episcopalian Canon Edward Nason West of the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, New York, was presented to President J. Ollie Edmunds in 1956.

GONFALONS

Gonfalons are thought to have originated in Western Europe during the Middle Ages, when such banners displayed the personal coat of arms of a nobleman and were used as war flags hung from a horizontal bar and carried on a staff or suspended from a knight's lance. As early as the 12th century, they were commonly used at state and religious ceremonies. Such pageantry finds a place today in the academic ceremonies of many colleges and universities.

Prominently featuring the university seal and the name of the respective college or school, the gonfalons are richly hued in Stetson's colors of green and white, accented by a luminous gold. The stately Elizabeth Hall cupola graces each gonfalon as a symbol of our heritage.

The bearers are outstanding members of the student body who have been selected by their respective dean for this honor.

THE FLAG

The university flag, designed by an alumna in 1976, features Stetson's official seal in the center, surrounded by the university's colors of green and white.

HONOR CORDS/PINS

Students who have earned a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.5 on a four point scale are presented with university honor cords of green and white. Students who are wearing other honor cords or pins have distinguished themselves with high academic excellence in their discipline, as designated below.

I acknowledge the impact of my decisions on others, on society, and on the environment. As I graduate from Stetson University and begin advanced study or my life's work, I pledge to consider the social, spiritual, and environmental consequences of my actions. As I make daily choices, I will do my best to enhance the lives of others, to deepen my understanding of the spiritual dimension of human life, and to demonstrate respect for the natural world.
